With Andrew Hooper, University of Chester and Nigel Hurlstone, Manchester School of Art.

Your portfolio is a representation of your creative self. Not only does it show your level of ability in the creative and visual arts, it also needs to display who you are as an individual.

'Who you are' and 'what you love' are as important to an interview panel as the work you show.

The session will explore, review and develop your portfolio and through a creative activity, based on the surroundings of Ruthin Craft Centre, it will help to make it unique to you.
